Planning the Interview

Your interview should be a formal meeting with the objective of assessing Mr. Sample qualifications for this Sample Customer Service position. Planning for the interview should begin with an examination of any areas of confusion or concern identified in the previous steps in the selection process, including your review of his resume or reference checks. This background information, in conjunction with this report, will assist you in determining this candidate's overall suitability for this position.

How to Use the Prevue Assessment in the Interview Process

Good hiring and promoting practices require that the personality traits, interests and abilities of job candidates should be matched to those required for the job for which the candidate is being considered. This can be accomplished by creating a Benchmark of the characteristics that your experience has confirmed are required for the job and that are evident in people who may have prior success in the job. The more closely Mr. Sample scores match the Benchmark, the higher is his suitability for that specific job. Scores that are off the Benchmark should provoke closer scrutiny.

Interview questions directed to specific on-the-job conduct will improve the selection process. In most cases you should customize these questions for this particular Sample Customer Service position. Mr. Sample responses should be clarified with further behavioral questions until you are comfortable you can make a proper decision on his overall job suitability.

Areas Off the Benchmark

The following are areas where Mr. Sample did not match this Sample Customer Service benchmark. A brief explanation of the score result and Benchmark is followed by suggested behavioral interview questions.

It will be evident that Mr. Sample does not fall within the Benchmarks for all of the dimensions of Abilities for this Sample Customer Service position.

A score above any of the Abilities Benchmarks will not generally be detrimental to overall performance. However, consideration should be given to whether the position will provide sufficient challenge, stimulation and opportunity for Mr. Sample.

A score below any of the Abilities Benchmarks could be significant. Such results suggest Mr. Sample may have difficulty in quickly and effectively addressing and completing those aspects of the job where he is below the Benchmark.

Total Person Description

John Sample

Sample Customer Service

Note:

The Total Person is a combination of all the elements Mr. John Sample completed in his Prevue Assessment.

This person has average ability to work with numbers and shapes, but he has lower than average verbal skills. This means that he will be competent for many numeric assignments and spatial tasks, but any work requiring skill with words will be very challenging for him. Mr. Sample will be able to do simple arithmetic and to work with routine spreadsheets, data tables, etc. Because he can mentally manipulate shapes and objects reasonably well, he will be able to follow ordinary diagrams, to arrange displays, and to estimate space requirements. For any written work, he will require more instruction and more time. Similarly, when faced with major changes in the workplace, Mr. Sample will need additional time to adapt.

Mr. Sample is interested in people and would probably be most happy in a job that involves contact with others. He has little interest in abstract information, but he is well motivated to work with tools or machinery. Although he can work with technology, he would perform best where he can take advantage of his preference for interpersonal activity. In a computer context, he would do best in direct communication with others via Internet connections, E-mail, and word processing.

Mr. Sample has well-balanced desires to compete and to cooperate. He will put himself forward in some situations but not so far as to compromise team spirit. He will balance his own need for achievement against the need to maintain good relations with others. Although he will usually submit to the will of the group or more assertive opponents, he will occasionally defend his ideas and promote his own ambitions, particularly if he feels secure within the group or knows the other people well. On the whole, he prefers to avoid rather than confront conflict. John Sample will use tact and diplomacy to maintain harmony in the workplace.

Mr. Sample prefers to have a well-thought-out plan before beginning any project. In an organized, structured environment, he is careful and reliable and may produce his best work. When the situation is less clear and disorderly, he will cope by imposing his own structure. Mr. Sample recognizes the value of planning, and has good time management skills. He may have some difficulty reacting to unpredictable events but with a bit of patience, he can cope with these situations.

John Sample prefers to work in the company of others. He believes that the more people involved the better the outcome. Extended periods of solitude will be frustrating for him. Often wanting to be in the spotlight, he will usually lead any discussion. He enjoys meeting new people and exploring new ideas. He often acts impulsively and long-term assignments must include variety or else he will lose interest. Mr. Sample will not tolerate a great deal of monotony and he will thrive on challenging assignments, particularly if these contain an element of risk.

John Sample is generally positive, rational, and calm. He takes criticism well and he strives to be objective. He is usually able to shrug off rejection and continue with his work. He is so relaxed and copes so well with pressure that some might misinterpret his lack of excitability as indifference. Less scrupulous people may attempt to exploit his easy trust and remarkable patience. Ideally, he should work on demanding, high pressure, long-term projects that require dealing with people openly and objectively. Whether he is required to give a fast response to a crisis or methodical attention to a routine task, Mr. Sample will work effectively under pressure.

VALIDITY INTRODUCTION:

- The rules for identifying patterns of responses in the Personality Section of the Prevue Assessment which might be "invalid" include systematic, but non-meaningful response patterns, omissions and excessive use of the "B" answer option. Systematic, but non-meaningful response patterns occur when the distribution of the responses differ from the norm and are considered unusual. The omission rule occurs if more than three responses are omitted in a given scale, making the results appear more average than they are. The "B" answer rule is affected by the total number of "B" responses selected. The candidate had the choice of an "A", "B", or "C" for every question in the Personality Section of the Prevue Assessment. The second option, the "B" choice, is always an unsure or in-between answer.

VALIDITY COMMENTARY:

- The total number of "B" responses chosen by the candidate in the course of completing the Prevue Assessment Questionnaire, including questions that were not answered, was 8.
- This number of "B" choices is within acceptable levels and the results of the Personality section of this report had meaningful response patterns. Therefore the data presented in this Prevue Assessment can be considered accurate and reliable.

BEST PRACTICE RECOMMENDATIONS:

- Assessment Administration: Best practice protocol recommends that assessments be administered to candidates in a controlled environment under the supervision of a proctor to ensure that:
 - The person who completes the Assessment is in fact the candidate;
 - A candidate's responses to the Assessment questions are not affected by collusion with others or by other actions that would invalidate the Assessment;
 - The supervisor is able to address unexpected conditions or problems affecting a candidate and to provide reasonable accommodation for candidates where required;

Where an Assessment is administered without the recommended supervision, the accuracy of the report cannot be guaranteed. If the report is a significant consideration in any final selection or other high stakes decision, you might wish to have the candidate retake the Prevue Assessment in a controlled environment;

For more information on the administration of the Prevue Assessment, please see "Administering the Prevue Assessment" in the Prevue User Guide posted at www.prevueassessments.com.

- Assessment Weighting: The weight given to the Prevue Assessment in any human resource selection or other high stakes decision should not exceed one-third of the total process. The remainder of the process, including the candidate's work history, interview, background checks, etc., should be considered in association with the results of this report.
- Ensure Fairness: When properly administered, the use of the Prevue Assessment will help to ensure that applicants are treated fairly without regard to race, colour, religion, sex or national origin. The Prevue Assessment was designed and developed to conform with the human rights legislative and best practice requirements prevailing in the various countries where the Prevue Assessment is distributed. This includes the EEOC Guidelines, the Americans for Disabilities Act and the standards for test development and administration published by the American Psychological Association, the British Psychological Society and the Association of Test Publishers.
